NEIGHBORHOOD
MINISTRIES

Programs They Offer

Barrio Works

- Barrio Works' mission is to create self-sustaining, community-based programs and shop spaces for the youth and adults of Neighborhood Ministries that nurture and develop hands-on, industrial arts and entrepreneurial skills in an environment that encourages creativity, provides access to the resources required to act on it, and recognizes the reciprocity between creator, investor, and patron.

Food & Clothing Bank

Hope House

- Provides housing and educational/vocational support to young adults ages 18 and up, as well as intense leadership development and discipleship. Community members live together in the house with their host family and participate in an internship-like role with the house's urban farm as well, practicing practical life and work skills transferable to school and workplace while contributing to the mission of the farm.

Hope House Farms

- Provides our young people with leadership opportunities and our community with fresh and affordable produce, as well as serve as a welcoming place of life, faith, and joy. This urban farm is becoming a hub for community life, with local families coming weekly to work and harvest produce to take home.
